

"A Bag O' Bones"

No Longer, for Proteus Has Been Busy Restoring Flesh, Making Tissue, at the Rate of a Pound a Day, in Some Cases.

What is Proteus? Send your name and address... All out of the below coupon... Proteus is a flesh maker; a tissue builder. It is breakfast, dinner and supper to starved and worn out and run down muscles.

Proteus Makes the Difference between a thin, shabby, uncertain man and a well built, robust, healthy, wholesome, assured, self-possessed and self-confident one. A man who is not an expensive treatment, but one who is used PROTEUS (a Youngstown, Ohio, man) said it only cost him 20 cents a pound.

FREE PROTEUS COUPON. This coupon is good for a 10-cent package of Proteus... Name, Street, City, State.

her husband's return, has shown little heroism than that of the... Harry Thaw, handing out books in the library of the Matteawan Hospital for the Insane, is for the first time in his life leading a healthy, normal existence.

And now comes the great news that the North Pole has actually been discovered, and by an American, too, with Old Glory floating in the Arctic... Frederick A. Cook, the lucky man, is a native of New York State. He is still a young man, only 44, having been born at that momentous year of 1865.

With all this talk about the alarming increase in the number of unmarried men in the country, and of the efforts of several of the States to correct this by a bachelor tax, the merit of the French system of matrimony shines out with a clear and unquestioned brilliancy.

We have arranged with the Queen & Crescent Route to run a Through Special Train from Cincinnati, Ohio, to St. Cloud, Florida, leaving Cincinnati, Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 21.

This fare is considerably lower than the regular rate on the one way ticket, and enables the intending settler to make a very material saving. It also gives the advantage of a through train without change.

FRUIT-GROWING IN THE SOUTH.

Pasturing Stock, Raising Chickens and the Toppling of Low-headed Trees.

Editor National Tribune: The pasturing of sheep, hogs and the raising of chickens and low-headed trees, are the chief occupations of the fruit-grower as well as the farmer. The time has been, and is yet with some people, when stock was not restricted to running at large in the orchard.

The question of growing fruit on the hillside is a practical question. Then, the growing of low-headed trees is another very important point to be remembered, for the hillsides are the best places for fruit-growing.

An Interested Florida Citizen. Editor National Tribune: I enclose $1.00 to renew my subscription to The National Tribune for the six next color years.

My chief surgeon, who accompanied my expedition from Kearny, Neb., in May, 1865, and remained with the 27th Infantry, as long as the public health was maintained, now on the retired list with rank of Colonel, is still living, and can be reached by letter addressed care of Fort Seward, Fort Seward, D. D., St. Petersburg, Fla.

EXEZEMA SUFFERERS are finding instant relief by using the wonderful face treatment for Exezema distributed by The Face Co., 47-B Broadway, New York.

Good-by to the Johnsons. A unique function was held at Brooklyn, Aug. 25, in a gathering to say good-by to "Grandpa" and "Grandma" Johnson.

POEM ON GETTYSBURG. H. R. Winn, Zanesville, O., received much applause at a recent meeting of the U. V. L. for his poem, "The Battle of Gettysburg." At the conclusion of the reading he elected an honorary member of the Association.

Comrade Little's Discharge. Comrade Isaac Keet, Co. E, 4th N. Y. Cav., Streator, Ill., has sent to The National Tribune a discharge issued July 26, 1865, to Comrade Horace A. Little. It was found on the Santa Fe Railroad and has been locally advertised without results.

WANTED - SALESMEN - MANAGERS STARTLING OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE MONEY FAST AT Home or Traveling - All or Spare Time

Experience not necessary. Honestly and willingness to work all we ask. We will give you an appointment worth $50 to $75 every week. You can be independent. Always have money in abundance and pleasant position selling greatest labor saving household appliance brought forth in fifty years.

$3000.00 in 3 Months. Selling this great invention - The Easy-Wring Mop. The biggest money maker of the age. Think of it! No mopping, no scrubbing, no scrubbing, no scrubbing. No mopping, no scrubbing, no scrubbing. No mopping, no scrubbing, no scrubbing.

PENSION DELAYS. AT KENESAW.

An Important Letter From Gen. H. B. Carrington, Colonel of the 18th U. S. During the Civil War. Editor National Tribune: In your issue of June 24, just received, under heading "Pension Delays," is a communication from William H. Verrill, 317 N. 15th street, Muskogee, Okla.

The various companies were distributed at various posts as follows: 1st Battalion, at Fort Casper, Douglas, Wyo.; 2nd Battalion, at Fort Laramie and Bridger; 3rd Battalion, at Fort Phil Kearny, Reno and C. F. Smith; the 3d Battalion at John Burroughs, Montana and Sedgewick.

The History of Fuller's Ohio Brigade. Comrades of the 27th, 29th, 43d and 63d Ohio, 10th and 64th Ill., 18th Me., 24th and 32d Wis., and 35th N. J., Co. F, 2d U. S. Art., 11th and 14th Ohio and 3d Mich. Batteries: The committee on the History of Fuller's Ohio Brigade, which includes the services of the 4th Division, Sixteenth Corps, and the 27th, 29th, 43d and 63d Ohio, 10th and 64th Ill., 18th Me., 24th and 32d Wis., and 35th N. J., Co. F, 2d U. S. Art., 11th and 14th Ohio and 3d Mich. Batteries.

Defense of a Blockhouse. In response to the inquiry as to the defense of a blockhouse by members of the 4th Mich. Cav., J. H. Bradford, 30th Ill., Washington, Ark., sends us a clipping from The National Tribune of Jan. 21, 1865, by Gen. R. H. G. Minty. It tells the story of the defense of the blockhouse between Nashville and Chattanooga in the month of March, 1864.

Neglect of the Regulars. S. W. Hoptonstall, Battery D, 3d U. S. Artillery, Zanesville, Ohio, writes to the Editor of The National Tribune of Jan. 21, 1865, in regard to the neglect of the regulars, who were left in the cold for enlisting too early. Comrade Hoptonstall enlisted March 20, 1861, and fought with the Army of the Potomac from start to finish. He was three times wounded, and never had a furlough nor a pass while in the service. He thinks it a shame for this great Government to make such a discrimination between its soldiers.

$3600 REWARD. This sum will be paid for a certain dollar 65-00... President McKinley's death. Sherman's army after all its depredations and all weak men had been sent to the rear, those remaining were not only well men, but strong and hardy, so that Sherman had 60,000 of as good soldiers as ever trod the earth.

The "high fliers" had a great time at Rheims, and the cup for the most successful flight goes to the American Glenn Curtiss, being the fortunate winner. There is great activity in the aviator world, and flying machines are selling well. The average Curtiss is selling no less than $2 in one week. The cost of his machine is $2,000. Accidents still happen occasionally to the aviators. It is not difficult to believe that a few of these are fatal, and during the week at Rheims, over 1,200 flights were made, there was not a single accident. When one thinks of the appalling number of fatalities from automobiles, and yet how everyone who can possibly afford it buys one, and everyone who can possibly get a ride in one jumps at the chance, it is not difficult to believe that the flying machine will very soon put the nose of the big auto out of joint, and force it to take a back seat. Thousands upon thousands of people flock to places where flights are scheduled to come off, showing how powerfully the imagination has been stimulated by this novel and so profoundly interesting interest. Count Zeppelin, who had such luck with his first airship and who sold his second to the German Government, has now his third, and Orville Wright, who is at present in Berlin, has just made a successful test of his new aeroplane, which was built in Germany. Some one thinks that these masters of the air have accomplished during the past year, or their great strides toward success, of the rapid growth of the industry in them, one is prepared for anything, even a flight to Mars and a call upon the Martians.

Collector Loeb, of the New York Customs House, has just run up against some sure and certain friends. An American lady received a visit from her sister, no longer a resident of this country. The visiting sister had a necklace valued at $2,500, which she arrived in New York, was allowed to come in duty free, as was her sister. The former a present of the necklace to her sister, who was coming to her. The necklace was valued at $2,500, which she arrived in New York, was allowed to come in duty free, as was her sister. The former a present of the necklace to her sister, who was coming to her.

There is a trusting simplicity about this which is quite touching. A manufacturer of New York has just received a divorce from his life partner on the ground that he was crazy when he married her. When he regained his reason, or sanity, he was allowed to leave her and applied for a divorce. It took him just two months to get his brain cleared. One of a cynical turn of mind liked to remark that the man who got a divorce from his life partner on the ground that he was crazy when he married her, when he regained his reason, or sanity, he was allowed to leave her and applied for a divorce.

With all this talk about the alarming increase in the number of unmarried men in the country, and of the efforts of several of the States to correct this by a bachelor tax, the merit of the French system of matrimony shines out with a clear and unquestioned brilliancy. A member of the Wisconsin Legislature, who has just introduced a bill calculated to make men with leanings to a life of single blessedness sit up and take notice, says that a large proportion of people wish to marry, but do not know how to do it. Of course, in this country a poor girl can do nothing but look as sweet and pretty as possible, and then wait patiently for some man to come along, fall in love with her and propose, while, as for the men, to the masters of the situation, most of them go to work to select a wife, and then they are off to the matrimonial altar.

With all this talk about the alarming increase in the number of unmarried men in the country, and of the efforts of several of the States to correct this by a bachelor tax, the merit of the French system of matrimony shines out with a clear and unquestioned brilliancy. A member of the Wisconsin Legislature, who has just introduced a bill calculated to make men with leanings to a life of single blessedness sit up and take notice, says that a large proportion of people wish to marry, but do not know how to do it. Of course, in this country a poor girl can do nothing but look as sweet and pretty as possible, and then wait patiently for some man to come along, fall in love with her and propose, while, as for the men, to the masters of the situation, most of them go to work to select a wife, and then they are off to the matrimonial altar.